About Inequality.org

Inequality.org has been tracking inequality-related news and views for nearly two decades.

Our focus throughout: What can we do to narrow the staggering economic inequality that so afflicts us in almost every aspect of our lives?

Inequality.org People

Sarah Anderson:
Sarah Anderson directs the Global Economy Project at the Institute for Policy Studies. Anderson’s research covers a wide range of international and domestic economic issues, including trade, finance, inequality, and budget policies. A well-known expert on executive compensation, Anderson has been the lead author on the annual IPS Executive Excess series since 1993. She has also co-authored two books, Field Guide to the Global Economy (New Press, 2nd edition, 2005) and Alternatives to Economic Globalization (Berrett-Koehler, 2nd edition, 2004).

Marc Bayard:
Marc Bayard is an Associate Fellow and the director of the Institute for Policy Studies’ Black Worker Initiative. He was the founding Executive Director of the Worker Institute at Cornell University. From 2003 to 2011 he was the Africa Regional Program Director for the American Center for International Labor Solidarity, AFL-CIO, and later was a fellow with the Kalmanovitz Initiative for Labor and the Working Poor at Georgetown University.

Chuck Collins:
Chuck Collins, a senior scholar at the Institute for Policy Studies, directs the IPS Program on Inequality and the Common Good and co-edits Inequality.org. He is the author of the books, Is Inequality in America Irreversible? and Born on Third Base: A One Percenter Makes the Case for Tackling Inequality, Bringing Wealth Home and Committing to the Common Good (Chelsea Green, 2016). Collins is co-author, with Bill Gates Sr., of Wealth and Our Common Wealth, (Beacon Press, 2003), a case for taxing inherited fortunes and, with Mary Wright, The Moral Measure of the Economy, a book about Christian ethics and economic life.

Rebekah Entralgo:
Rebekah Entralgo, the managing editor of the IPS Inequality.org website and newsletter, previously covered immigration, labor and tax policy as a reporter at ThinkProgress and later led communications and media strategy at Freedom for Immigrants, a national nonprofit working to end immigration detention. Rebekah holds a Bachelor of Arts in Editing, Writing, and Media from Florida State University, where she was an undergraduate research assistant studying growing activist movements on social media.

Josh Hoxie:
Josh Hoxie is an IPS Associate Fellow and the former head of the Project on Opportunity and Taxation at the Institute for Policy Studies. He worked previously as a legislative aide for U. S. Senator Bernie Sanders. He has written widely on income and wealth redistribution for Inequality.org and other media outlets.

Dedrick Asante-Muhammad:
Dedrick Asante-Muhammad is an IPS Associate Fellow and Coordinator of the Bridging the Divide initiative of the IPS Program on Inequality and the Common Good. He has been a long time thought leader focused on racial economic inequality. He started his work as the first Racial Wealth Divide Coordinator at United For A Fair Economy. He then went on to work with Chuck Collins at Institute for Policy Studies Inequality and Common Good Program. Dedrick then went on to become the Senior Director of the Economic Department for the NAACP. He is currently Chief of Race, Wealth and Community at the National Community Reinvestment Coalition.

Bob Lord:
Bob Lord, a tax lawyer and former Congressional candidate, is an associate fellow at the Institute for Policy Studies. Bob previously served as an adjunct faculty member at the Arizona State University School of Law. Bob’s work focuses on the relationship of tax law to inequality. He contributes to both the Inequality.org website and to OtherWords, the Institute’s national syndicated editorial service. Bob also is a staff member at Blog For Arizona, the leading political blog in Arizona.

Omar Ocampo:
Omar Ocampo is a researcher for the IPS Program on Inequality and the Common Good. He graduated from the University of Massachusetts Boston with a B.A. in Political Science and holds a Masters in International Relations from the American University in Cairo. Prior to joining IPS, Omar was an intern for Congressman Stephen F. Lynch. He later entered — continued next page the nonprofit sector where he worked in direct human and social services.

Sophia Paslaski:
Sophia is the Administrative Assistant and Event Coordinator for the IPS Boston office. She comes with an array of informative experiences, two years as a freelance copywriter, nearly three years as the contract web producer for Walden Media and Walden Pond Press, and several months as a volunteer grant writer and operations associate for start-up immigrant and refugee resettlement nonprofit Victory Women of Vision.

Sam Pizzigati:
Sam Pizzigati, an associate fellow at the Institute for Policy Studies, has written widely on income and wealth concentration, with op-eds and articles in publications ranging from the New York Times to Le Monde Diplomatique. Among his books: The Rich Don’t Always Win: The Forgotten Triumph over Plutocracy that Created the American Middle Class, 1900-1970 (Seven Stories Press). His latest book: The Case for a Maximum Wage (Polity). A veteran labor movement journalist, Pizzigati spent 20 years directing publishing at America’s largest union, the 3.2 million-member National Education Association.

Brian Wakamo:
Brian Wakamo is an Inequality Research Analyst at the Institute for Policy Studies. He assists in maintaining and updating the Inequality.org fact section with the latest data on various forms of inequality. He also produces research in support of a campaign to defend the public Postal Service from privatization. Prior to working at IPS, he was a Next Leader in the Global Economy project at IPS in the spring of 2018, and before that, he also interned at ONE DC, helping fight gentrification, and at Let America Vote, where he organized and gathered support for voting rights.

Information & Insights

Provide information and insights

1. Research
   Produce research that is useful for social movements in the fight against rising inequality.

2. Books
   Publish books

3. Policy
   Create and implement public policy to address inequality

Our team works to create and implement public policy at the state, local, and international level to address inequality. We are in service to social movements that drive these policy priorities on behalf of broad coalitions. We work on wide range of initiatives in which we have developed experience and expertise. Here is a short description of the issues we’re working on right now:

Stakeholder(s):
State Governments International Agencies
Local Governments

3.1. Compensation
   Reform CEO compensation

Closing the Gap between CEO and Average Worker Pay – For over two decades, IPS has been a recognized leader in CEO compensation reform. We research the negative consequences of CEO to average worker pay disparities and promote national, state and local reforms to rein in runaway CEO pay. This includes our annual Executive Excess report.

Stakeholder(s):
CEOs Workers
3.2. Estate & Wealth Taxation

Promote public policies that reduce the concentration of wealth and power

Defend and Expand Estate and Wealth Taxation – We promote public policies that reduce the concentration of wealth and power, including estate, gift and wealth taxation. We coordinate the Americans for a Fair Estate Tax, a national coalition defending the estate tax and promoting progressive reforms. We assist state campaigns to defend or institute state-level estate and wealth taxation.

Stakeholder(s):
Americans for a Fair Estate Tax

3.3. State & Local Policies

Institute public policies to reduce inequality

State and Local Policy Initiatives – We consult with state and local policy advocates and elected officials to institute public policies to reduce inequality, including CEO-worker pay ordinances and progressive tax and revenue initiatives. This includes policy research, expert testimony, and communications assistance.

3.4. Hidden Wealth

Increase transparency and discourage hidden wealth practices

Hidden Wealth Working Group – Wealthy individuals and corporations are hiding trillions in wealth in offshore accounts and opaque trusts, making it challenging to reverse inequality. Private wealth managers and family offices enable this sequestering of wealth, placing it outside of accountability and taxation. The working group includes researchers and campaigners identifying pressure points to increase transparency and discourage hidden wealth practices.

Stakeholder(s):
Wealthy Individuals
Corporations
Private Wealth Managers
Family Offices

3.5. Economic Inequalities

Illuminate the interaction between race, caste, and class in perpetuating social and economic inequalities

Racial Economic Divide – We illuminate the interaction between race, caste, and class in perpetuating social and economic inequalities. With national partners, we are publishing research reports and promoting public policies to address the racial dimensions of income and wealth inequality.
3.6. Black Workers

Expanding opportunities for black worker organizing

Black Worker Initiative ~ Black workers have been particularly hard hit by the rising tide of inequality in today’s economy. The Initiative supports the historic and contemporary aims of the labor and civil rights movements by expanding opportunities for black worker organizing, and thereby greatly contributing to the revitalization of the U.S. labor movement as a whole.

Stakeholder(s):
Black Workers

3.7. Economy

Speed the transition from an economy marked by excessive corporate power to an equitable and sustainable economic model

The Global Economy Project ~ We work to speed the transition from an economy marked by excessive corporate power to an equitable and sustainable economic model. Through researching and critiquing corporate-driven trade, finance, and investment policies, the project exposes the systems that empower the already wealthy to protect and expand their wealth.

3.8. Philanthropy

Promote philanthropic reforms to encourage broader giving and democratic decision-making in the charitable sector

Top Heavy Philanthropy Reform ~ As inequality grows, so does the concentration of wealth in private philanthropy, donor advised funds, and charitable foundations. We publish research about the perils of top heavy philanthropy and promote philanthropic reforms to encourage broader giving and democratic decision-making in the charitable sector.

Stakeholder(s):
Charitable Sector Foundations
Donor Advised Funds
